

MARK RADONICH,
INSTRUCTOR
founder, Cultural Effect

As a Health Physicist and a former Certified MQSA Inspector, Mark has devoted his career to improving organizational performance. He has spoken to public, private, and not-for-profit audiences and has provided continuing education services for RTs, mammographers, industrial hygienists, engineers, and other certified professions. Mark is now in wide demand as a trainer, workshop clinician, consultant, and speaker on mammography program quality, strategic, and organizational issues.

“Digital Mammography QC Review”

ASRT-approved Continuing Education for 8 Category A CEs

You probably know that unlike traditional mammography, digital mammography Quality Control guidance depends on the manufacturer—each is a little different. Join us for an overview and comparison of approved digital systems, a review of Mammography Program Quality Control, and a stimulating conversation about 10 years of digital mammography.

Whether you’re already using FFDM, contemplating a transition to digital, or curious about the different units, you’ll benefit from the day’s learning.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND?

- Lead and Backup QC Technologists
- All Mammographers
- Radiology/Mammography Program Managers
- Anyone interested in current Digital Mammography Technology and proper use
- Curious Souls and Lifelong Learners
